Suits

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sep. 16.—Charging that the Pacific Gas and Electric company was responsible for the fire which partially destroyed Berkeley two years ago, insurance companies and individuals filed suit today for a sum of over $4,000,000.

The insurance companies asked that the Pacific Gas and Electric company return the money that they had disbursed to policy holders. This amount totals more than $2,000,000. The individuals asked for a sum well over the million and a half mark.

Both insurance companies and individuals hold that the Berkeley fire was started by a Pacific Gas and Electric company high power transmission line three miles northwest of the city.

Suits in addition to those already filed may be filed at a later date.

BLAST VICTIMS' INQUEST HELD

"Death was caused by fracture of the skull and lacerations of the brain due to an explosion of dynamite at the Healy Tibbets Quarry."

Thus Carl S. Sands, 30, and Alfred Lian, 31, came to their deaths on Tuesday night, according to the verdicts returned at the inquests conducted by Coroner C. F. Donnelly last night.

A recommendation was made by the jury in the case that: "That system of blasting be changed. Instead of using fuses to use electric firing apparatus in setting off blasts."

George Genius watchman at the quarry on Brooks Island, was called to the witness stand and related how he heard the blast and not seeing the two laborers outside the tunnel became suspicious and investigated. He later found the bodies within the tunnel.

A. A. Eliason, timekeeper of the company, gave testimony substantially the same as that of the watchman.

DEGREES CONFERRED BY ODD FELLOWS

Several candidates received the Royal Purple degree at the session of Contra Costa Encampment, Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Richmond last night. A routine business meeting was also held. Chief Patriarch N. G. Cofer was in charge of both activities.

The evening was closed with a banquet, served under the charge of a committee headed by L. W. Skov.

"The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted" Starts Today

It is here at last. The story that you have been waiting for begins today on the editorial page of the RECORD-HERALD. It is a story of life—life as you see it lived around you most every day. In fact the human interest feature in the story is so strong that motion picture directors pounced upon the story when it was first written and have produced a motion picture with the same name "THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED." Here is a story that you will truly enjoy reading. Begin with the first installment today.

Program Is Laid Out for Big Picnic

Richmond Merchants Association Get-Together Picnic, is an assured success through the efforts of the following committeemen: Fred La Moine, C. C. Kratzer, Harry Alberts, Bill Mayer, Ed Forwick, Harley Carter, J. P. Strom, Ed Crane, who met last night at headquarters and presented the following program:

The most important question—that of "eats" is in charge of Ed Forwick, who is to provide coffee, soda pop, ice cream and hot dogs.

Harley Carter has a fine series of games and good prizes in the following events:

Tug o' war—cigarettes; neck tie tying contest—a neck tie; married women's race, $2.50 prize; some amount for single women's race; 50-yard dash for girls; a belt; 50-yard dash for girls; a handsome compact; 3-legged race for men—silk socks; egg race for girls, a surprise gift. There will also be relay races for both boys and girls and an apple bobbing contest for small boys, in addition to a shoe contest. Judges will not be members of the association. Wm. Mayer reports 200 tickets sold to date and plans are being made to feed 400—get your tickets now, so that your name will be in the coffee pot.

Fred La Moine hereby issues a challenge to Bill Hays, "Boss of 23d Street" for a baseball game. La Moine will select his players from merchant members between First and Tenth streets and he says Hays can collect his gang from Tenth to Twenty-third if he will include Hughes, our grocer. No loaded bats will be allowed by the judges.

As the Morgan has not accepted Ed Forwick's rope climbing challenge when we went to press, the challenge is again issued for he wishes to beat Kettelhut, who is now training for a tumbling stunt in which he will twist himself into the kind of knot made famous through the Kettelhut pretzel.

PRIZES NAMED FOR BUSINESS WOMEN'S WHIST

That the whist planned by the Business and Professional Women's club will be well worth while, is indicated in the list of prizes which has been announced by the committee in charge of the affair which is to be held in Memorial hall on the evening of October 6.

In connection with the whist the club is arranging for a program in which Kenneth C. Beaton "K. C. B." well-known columnist will appear in person, following a radio program, which will be received at the hall. The radio program will be given over KPO, after which Beaton will be taken to the hall, where he will present the prizes to the winners.

Miss Edna K. Lohr, who will display the prizes for the whist in the window of her shop at 911 Macdonald avenue, has requested all members of the club to turn in their prizes not later than Monday morning.

The partial list of prizes and their donors are: Mrs. J. Abrahams and Miss B. Karp, hand made lingerie; Miss Nora Ashfield and Dr. Ross Powell, candle sticks; Miss Belle Bugman, hand made steel beaded bag; Miss Alberta Grimsley, Lily bowl; Miss Etta Haley, embroidered dollies; Miss Marie Jensen, door prize, $5 gold piece; Miss Helen Kingsbury, pair of hand embroidered pillow cases; Miss Edna Lohr, and Miss Irene Lohr, hat order; Miss Viola Treanor, table cover; Miss Ruby Tully, hand painted china; Miss Edna Yager, string of pearls; Miss Irene Warren, perfume atomizer.

POST OFFICE BOXES ARE BROKEN OPEN

MARTINEZ, Sept. 16.—Upon learning early this morning that six boxes in the Martinez post office had been jimmied and two broken into, local federal authorities immediately started a systematic search to apprehend the culprit or culprits.

The boxes opened were those of the Bank of Martinez and the Martinez Drug store. The extent of the loss cannot be definitely determined and many days may elapse before an accurate check can be made.

The first investigations were made by City Marshal Charles Palmer. He was later joined by the post office inspectors. Confidentiality is expressed in the ability of the inspectors to capture the thieves.

The method of operation and the boxes toward which the looters directed their efforts leads authorities to believe that boxes were not selected at random but that a watch had been kept to learn in which receptacles the greatest amount of loot might be found.

SLIPPERY STREET CAUSES WRECK

The first auto accident in Richmond as a result of the rains took place last evening at Eleventh and Macdonald.

Joe Sanchez of 205 Chanslor avenue driving a Haynes touring car smashed into a big Six Studebaker driven by S. Green of Tracy.

The bumper of Tracy's car was ripped off. It appeared that Sanchez was in the wrong, according to the police.

Capacity Crowd Attends Baptist Revival Service

Another capacity crowd attended the revival service conducted at the First Baptist church last night by Rev. Gideon Higginbotham. Using "And He Brought to Jesus," as a text, Rev. Higginbotham spoke on the subject, "Introducing Jesus Christ."

Special music provided during the evening included vocal duets by Mrs. Perry Laster and Miss Grace Craven, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Kleinkauf at the piano.

Prayer meetings will be held today at the homes of the following: Mrs. R. H. Kinney, 644 Seventeenth street; Mrs. Fannie Jackson, 143 Fifth street; and Mrs. C. W. Cook, 1420 Chanslor avenue.

Rev. Higginbotham yesterday noon conducted a service at the Certain Products plant and at noon today will hold services at the Pullman car shops.

New Developments In Tule Mystery

Discovered by E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, among some newspapers and sand brought to him from the tule swamp area in the first days of the probe, two human hairs, those of a man, are offered as the first tangible basis for a reconstructed description of the El Cerrito tule swamp murderer.

The hairs are dark brown in color and are believed to have fallen from the slayer of Mrs. Beattie Ferguson Loren. That Heinrich may be able to reconstruct a true description of the slayer is the hope of the officials who point out that the criminologist was able to reconstruct the description of Mrs. Loren with only her left ear and a shred of hair in his possession.

Vets Boo the Message of Richardson

(By Universal Service)

AVALON, Catalina Islands, Sept. 16.—A telegram of greeting from Governor Friend Richardson to the state convention of the American Legion here today provoked an outburst of booing of the governor and was sensed as an expression of the anti-Richardson sentiment.

The outburst was volcanic. For a moment it roared, then someone started a song to the tune of "London Bridge Is Falling Down"—"Out the Window He Must Go, He Must Go, He Must Go."

The governor's telegram was brief and innocent. It follows: Sacramento: Kindly convey my greeting to the members of the American Legion at their convention at Catalina. Governor Friend Richardson.

Archer Bowden of San Jose, chairman of the legislative committee, has submitted a report to the legion enunciating the recent bills passed by the legislature and vetoed by the governor. He said that at no time has the governor made a statement to the legion as to his reasons for vetoing the bills.

That explains the legion anti-Richardson feeling.

President Coolidge, who was against the bonus, but said why, received the legion's commendation today in a resolution expressing satisfaction of his plan for an investigation of the air service.

PROPAGANDA TO BE DISREGARDED IN FRANCE DEBT

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—"The United States will settle with France without any reference to what took place at the conference between Mr. Callaux and Mr. Churchill or any propaganda spread broadcast by either or both of them."

"The United States has nothing to say about any political or understanding between European countries, and does not intend to be drawn into them."

"Mr. Callaux will be granted every possible chance to settle his side of the question."

"The United States commission will look after the interests of America. This statement made today by Senator Smoot, a member of the American debt commission, is understood to have been the result of resentment felt by members of the commission to the criticism with which the United States has been bombarded."

The statement shows great significance in view of the fact that it followed a caucus of Smoot with President Coolidge upon the day Callaux was booked to sail for America.

Several other witnesses have already been examined all testifying to making investments in the Golett merger schemes.

COMMISSION TO START AIR QUIZ THIS MORNING

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The presidential commission of nine will begin tomorrow a sweeping investigation of America's alleged weakness in air-force defenses and "treasonable negligence" of the military chiefs.

Howard E. Coffin of Detroit will sit with the group which meets President Coolidge at the White House in the forenoon, despite the protest that the part he played in the air waste during the war has robbed him of public confidence.

President Coolidge will refrain from reply to the charges leveled against Coffin by the American Society for the Promotion of Aviation. In its protest, the society said Coffin was head of the Aircraft Production Board and that the waste of billions of dollars without the manufacture of a worth-while fighting plane was the origin of the system which has produced America's present "collapse" in the air.

The commission was appointed as the result of President Coolidge's determination to go to the bottom of the situation.

Colonel William Mitchell's grave charges against the army and navy officials, to ascertain the present condition of the country's aerial defense and to formulate constructive plans for the rebuilding of the air forces of the future.

CITY COFFERS INCREASED $50

Habeas Corpus Writ Hearing Up Today

The petition of Tsar Calfee, Richmond Attorney, for a writ of habeas corpus for Millard D. Boice, 28, will be heard by Judge A. B. McKenzie this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Boice charges that he is being held unlawfully by Police Chief Dan Cox, and the attorney is asking the writ to procure his freedom. The arrest was made in Richmond on September 15 when Chief Dan Cox received a circular sent out by Sheriff E. F. Lockridge of Ravalli county, Montana, alleging that Boice was wanted for kidnapping.

The charge in Montana was preferred by his former wife, Boice claims. The woman alleges that he kidnapped their six-year-old son and took him from the state. When he learned the mother had been given legal custody of the child he returned it, Boice claims.

A steam shovel will be on the site Tenth and Nevin avenue, at the time of the ceremony and will start the work of excavation for the foundation of the building immediately.

Bids for the building will be opened at the Berkeley office of James W. Plachek on September 30.

FINAL CHAPTER IS WRITTEN IN PINOLE TRAGEDY

The final chapter in the tragedy of the Salina family of Pinole in which the death of both parents orphaned seven children of ages ranging from four to 19 years, was written at the inquest conducted by Coroner C. F. Donnelly last night.

Mrs. Charlotte Adeline Salmon was killed by a gunshot inflicted by the hand of her husband, and Benjamin Freeman Salmon died from a self-inflicted wound, according to the verdict of the jury at the inquest.

The verdict in the Mrs. Salmon case read: Death was caused by shock due to hemorrhage from a gunshot wound in the right side of the chest, inflicted by the hands of Benjamin Freeman Salmon.

In the husband's inquest the verdict was: Death was caused from shock due to hemorrhage from a gunshot wound in the right temple, self inflicted with suicidal intent.

It was brought out in testimony introduced, that Mrs. Salmon had filed suit for divorce from her husband a few days before the tragedy. The last note written by Salmon was introduced as evidence and from this missive it was learned that Salmon had decided to end the life of both his wife and himself, because he believed their seven children would be better able to get along in the world without their parents.

The charge in Montana was preferred by his former wife, Boice claims. The woman alleges that he kidnapped their six-year-old son and took him from the state. When he learned the mother had been given legal custody of the child he returned it, Boice claims.

The jury in both inquests was composed of G. M. Reifschneider, foreman; R. H. McElchers, W. J. Richards, Jr., Richard Johnson, E. L. Kearney and J. L. Urie.

SLACKNESS IN VOTING

The United States no longer holds the world's voting record. About forty years ago eighty per cent of the citizens went to the polls and voted. This percentage gave us the lead. In 1920 and 1924 only about fifty per cent of the American voters exercised the right of franchise. Consequently the United States flopped down to the tail in the list of voting nations. In the 1924 election in the house of commons in Great Britain seventy-six per cent of the electorate exercised the right to vote, the right for which we fought Great Britain in 1776.

In the first election under the institution of the German Republic seventy-five per cent of all Germans, twenty years of age and over, voted, and in 1924 the percentage reached a total of eighty per cent and in the recent presidential election in April of this year the percentage reached a total of eighty-two per cent.

The Australian average for twenty years show that about seventy-five percent of the electorate vote; while New Zealand an eighty percent. In the recent elections of 1923-24 New Zealand and Queensland produced a record of nearly eighty-four per cent. Denmark, Belgium and Holland ranged from sixty to ninety-two per cent, according to the election, their general average being about seventy-five per cent. France votes seventy per cent, owing to the electorate—that is, on the average, some districts make even a higher rating. Sweden and Norway run Belgium and Denmark a close second. In the recent election in Italy about sixty-four per cent of the voting population of men and women voted. Switzerland has a record of seventy-six per cent. Our neighbors to the north the Canadians, have a voting average of about seventy per cent, while Cuba, just across the water from Florida, makes twice as good a showing as the Everglade state.

IN SOUTH CAROLINA

In order that one may properly appreciate the beauties of a southern state under democratic rule may be evidenced by the statement of a lady who has just returned from South Carolina where she bought a half pound box of candy for fifty cents and on the back of it were five one-cent business tax stamps. It is reported that in addition to this nuisance tax, South Carolina has many other taxes, even including those on ice cream sodas at the fountain and the beauty of it is that these taxes are not given to the government to pay the war debt but are used to cover appropriations made by state democratic officials who evidently have not yet learned that the World war is over and that nuisance taxes have long since been abolished in fully enlightened commonwealths.

It might be a good idea to throw the question of evolution into congress. Once introduced it would be referred to a committee and permanently pigeon-holed. —Omaha Bee.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Copyright 1925 by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Fashionmakers Unwilling to Have Their Wares Neglected, Make New Fans That Are Irresistible. The Fate of the Fan, One Would Think, Hung in the Balance.

WHETHER or not we carry fans this autumn and winter, it would seem, depends on whether or not the boyish, short-haired mode prevails or gives way before the softer influence of frills and femininity that has been predicted. For it doesn't seem quite appropriate to carry a fan as lovely as a rose garden when you dress with the severity of a young spruce sapling. Earrings, parrots and fans—save in their most severe editions—do not at first thought seem to go very well with the close-cropped hair. But then neither do frilly, lace-trimmed frocks nor gorgeous jeweled bracelets nor diamond chokers nor brilliant encrusted slippers like those that Cinderella wore. Perfect consistency mode of dress to go with the close cropped head of today. But then—when in the last two thousand years has fashion ever been perfectly consistent? The fact is that many fashionable women take much pleasure in just these little inconsistencies. In Victorian days—they were tight-fitting, low-cut bodices that accentuated all the seductive curves of a woman's body and then insisted on skirts that hid the ankles. That was just as inconsistent as our present way of dressing with boyish simplicity in some respects and then carrying fans and wearing jewelry of surpassing charm.

And really there seems not the slightest reason to suppose that the vogue for short hair will diminish. In fact, while there are instances now as ever of women who are letting their short hair grow, there are still many women having it now short for the first time, and more numerous instances of women who already have it short who are now wearing it even shorter. If you want to see the fashion really pass into the discard you can wish for nothing more effective than the increased popularity of this very short hair. If enough women go about in hair cut as short as their brothers' then we shall become so heartily sick of the fashion that we will forewarn the barbers' shears for the rest of our lives. Meantime some of the best dressed of the more extreme of fashionable women are having their hair cut quite close all around, allowing it to be just a trifle long on the top of the head. This bit of longer hair is waved to form a fluffy lock on top that is most boyish in appearance.

Pearls are still worn for evening. But there is an increased tendency among women of fashion to wear diamonds. Perhaps the visit of the Prince of Wales—always the darling of fashion—to the diamond fields of South Africa last summer had something to do with that. Besides this diamond jewelry one sees interesting pieces—earrings, bracelets, necklaces, pendants—made from colored stones—rubies, emeralds, sapphires, etc.—set with diamonds or with pearls. This, of course, is a revival of jewelry of many years ago.

"The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted" with Irene Rich, is a picturization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

The purple haze of a summer's morning lay upon the distant hills, the rising sun gilded the roof of John Mannering's beautiful home and its rays scintillated against the window panes with the leaping flames of many fires. They set the dew wet grass on the close mown lawn to glittering like a vast tray filled with myriads of gems and gave warm caresses to the moist blooms in the rose garden. They aroused a robin to a joyous outburst of melody and peeping amidst the trellised vines which framed the window, they sifted on into a room to paint its polished floor with great splashes of gold.

Not content with this, a very rake of a ray crept boldly up on a bed and falling full upon a pillow kissed the soft cheek of a woman lying there. Before she wanted a salute, she moved uneasily. Opening her eyes, she gazed about her drowsily until finally, fully awakened, she reached for the clock at her side. But quickly Eileen Mannering set the time piece aside as a remembrance brought a glow of happiness to her face. A day among days had dawned. It was her son's twenty-first birthday.

She sat up, her mind overflowing with tender memories as it traveled back through the years since she had cradled Bob as an infant in her arms. Happy years had been, for Bob had been all that a son should be. And now he was a man. A clean, splendid young fellow, the very thought of whom thrilled her heart with pride. Her eyes were misty with mother love as, leaving the past, her thoughts leaped on to dwell upon the mysterious way of the future. Fear found no place in her life. To it, she must surely have given lip, had it not been for the sleeping man behind her.

Yet, for all her care, John Mannering awakened. With a yawn he marked her empty bed and harkened to the muffled rush of water within the bath room. Aware that she would soon return, there came a change in him. An official of dignity and consequence, there was still a bit of a boy about John. As the bath room door reopened, he deliberately snuggled down in his pillows and closed his eyes.

Reopening, Eileen crossed the beautifully furnished room to pause unsuspectingly by his bed side and to hesitate in gentle sweetness as it still loath to disturb him.

"John," she said finally, "John." Then she stooped and kissed him. A kiss from Eileen Mannering! Surely it would be impossible for a man to be so lost in slumber as to fail to heed such a sweet summons? But John Mannering never moved. Indeed, he eyed a snore.

A mistake, John—a fatal mistake. It was a sorry imitation, lacking verity and failing to carry conviction even to so confiding a soul as hers. Her suspicions were promptly aroused.

What was more, a woman of action, she cast aside the bed clothes and as an eagle swoops down on its prey was upon him,—ticking his ribs,—until he wiggled, squirmed and laughed helplessly under her attack.

Beware Eileen, be content with your triumph. Over-confidence has brought disaster at the instant of victory.

Ah,—It is over with the quick-her heart. Bob had been a wonderful boy and would be a wonderful man. To what high pinnacle might he aspire, what marvels accomplish?

HER EYES RESTED GENTLY UPON THE RECURRENT FIGURE

Aroused from her dreams, Eileen reached for her negligee. But as she slipped it on, her eyes rested gently upon the recurrent figure of the man in the twin bed beside her own. To the world, John Mannering was the District Attorney of Fayette County and reckoned one of the big lawyers of the state, but to her, he was just her other boy,—her pal,—tried and true. Not always had life been as rosy to Eileen and John Mannering as it seemed this morning. There had been difficult years when John unknown and unappreciated was struggling to get a start in his profession. Money was scarce in those days, but they had met and conquered their problems, buoyed up by a richness of faith and love. Best of all, as John had climbed, winning by his outstanding ability and inflexible integrity of purpose ever greater honor and success in his profession, that had remained.

Another glance at the clock and hesitation. John worked so hard and now he was sleeping so soundly. It seemed a shame to disturb him an instant sooner than was necessary. Sliding cautiously from the bed, she tiptoed quietly into the bath room, beyond. Behind a carefully closed door, she turned on the water and laid out fresh undergarments for her John. That was Eileen. Today, with an efficient staff of servants at her beck and call, she still saw to the more intimate details of John's personal comfort and well being with a devotion which only love can give. And marvelously happy was Eileen at the task this morning. A psalm of thanksgiving and joy welled up within her heart, for her boy, her husband and the rich fulness of ness of a flash. Her frail figure, caught within his strong arms, is drawn down to his side a prisoner of war and made to suffer the added ignominy of a tousled head.

But even in the administration of condign punishment his touch was but a caress, his threats but empty boasts.

"Come on,—want to try it again?" he dared her when she had finally escaped his grasp to sit a breathless figure at the other end of the bed.

She received the invitation with silent scorn.

"Of you,—certainly not. But why trouble when I have gained my point. You are awake, you were never more wide awake in your life. Now, get up."

He cast a careless glance at the clock and again gave his attention to her, affection written plain upon his face.

"The prettiest bride that ever came out of Kentucky," he proclaimed.

The color that played over her face was not entirely due to her recent strenuous exercise. He was always so outspoken in his admiration of her.

"Oh John,—and Kentucky is not ed for its beautiful women."

"Having picked its loveliest specimen for my own, I would be the last to deny the old state's claims in that respect."

She smiled, happy in the fact that despite the long years of their married life her husband was still her lover.

"You are blind, dear. Look! for me, love has blinded your eyes."

"Blind nothing," he declared stoutly. "I maintain that I'm as good a judge of a fine looking woman today as I ever was."

California Theater And Marathon Is Arranging Surprise

On Saturday afternoon, through the kindness of the California Theatre management and the Marathon Candy Store, the kiddies (and grown folks too) are to be given a treat free of charge. It has been arranged by these two neighborly and prominent Macdonald Avenue firms to pass out tickets to each and every person who attends the Children's matinee Saturday, September 19th, a free ticket which, when presented at the Marathon Candy store, 905 Macdonald avenue, will be good for one "Frosted". "Frosted" is a new confection made from Miller's ice cream, on a stick, chocolate coated and wrapped in wax paper. The "Frosted" idea was originated in Los Angeles. Patrons of the California Theatre's special kiddie matinee are to have the privilege, through the Marathon Candy Store, of being the first in Richmond to enjoy this dainty.

LOTUS EATER IS ATTRACTION AT RICHMOND

"The Lotus Eaters", a First National attraction, starring John Barrymore, will be the feature screen attraction at the Richmond Theatre today.

The story of "The Lotus Eaters" concerns a young man who, through the will of his eccentric father, grew up on a yacht without ever seeing a woman, and falls in love with the first girl he meets. Their marriage proves a failure. In an accident he is stranded on a small island and there meets a girl with whom he soon finds himself in love. A passing ship picks him up and he goes back home to find his wife has remarried and left him, he then returns to find happiness with the island girl.

"The Lotus Eaters" is one of the most entertaining presentations offered this year.

An all-star cast is in support of Barrymore.

Other entertainment on the same program includes "Hello Hollywood", a screaming comedy; "Prizma", a screen magazine.

Athletes Train on a Milk Diet

OUR PROUD REPUTATION

That the Purity Creamery of Richmond is one of the best conducted and most sanitary plants in the state was the opinion of speakers who sponsored the new milk ordinance before the city council at its meeting this week.

Dr. Blake and others spoke in high terms about the local creamery which is said to have passed all state inspections with high scores under the pure food act. It has always merited the very best reports, it was said.

It is a well-known fact that Athletes train on a diet in which milk figures largely.

THE ELEPHANT HAS NO JOINTS—people used to believe

THEREFORE, according to medieval gossip, he is obliged to sleep leaning against a tree. When the nocturnal hunter cuts down the tree, the sleeping elephant falls and, having no joints, is unable to rise, and is easily captured or slain.

Superstitions Don't Work Out in Practice

An entertaining superstition, but no more absurd than that "eastern" motor oils are "somehow" better merely because they cost more and are made in the east.

As a matter of fact, the most suitable crude so far discovered for the manufacture of a motor lubricant is western naphthenic base crude. And the most highly developed refining process is this Company's patented high-vacuum process, during the use of which Zerolene is submitted to 15 positive checks for quality.

Zerolene Proves Quality in Use

Zerolene challenges comparison with any oil made, whether of eastern or western origin. If you have not yet tried Zerolene—remember it is successfully lubricating every make of car in use—high priced and low—more cars in the Pacific Coast States than any other oil made!

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene. Always ask for ZEROLENE by name.

Get the Facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less

Decision Near In Hearing On Famous Case

Stanta Fe railroad south to Potrero and from the half block west of 17th street to 23rd street is expected to decide a case that has been in the courts for the last ten years. This property includes the old Wall City hall which reverted back to the original owners when the city abandoned the site.

The action around which the present suit hinges is one filed by Edith Wilbur on January 6, 1921 against the late D. H. Griffin, George S. Wall, J. A. Chanslor, The Harbor Center Land Co. and the New Richmond Land Co., charging fraud and conspiracy. An amended complaint was later filed in which Miss Wilbur appeared as a stockholder of the Harbor Center Land Co. and asked that the whole thing be decreed a trust in her favor. The amended complaint charged among other things that the New Richmond Land Co. had taken a commission on sales in excess of the amount they were entitled to.

The technical point involved in the original agreement reads: "The New Richmond Land Co. is to have and receive thirty per cent of the sales price received for all lots sold. According to the interpretation put on this clause by Miss Wilbur this thirty per cent was to be paid only for money actually collected and not for the full sale price of the lot. Should she be sustained in her contention it would mean that the New Richmond Land Company would have to reimburse the Harbor Center Land Company in the amount of $126,000 on commissions collected. This Griffin estate is interested in the case because of a note held by the estate against Miss Wilbur in which the property was pledged as security.

An entire resume of the case is as follows: In 1913 Miss Wilbur took an option from the McClure estate on 26 blocks in the Wall City Hall tract, and organized the Harbor Center Land Company.

A short time later the Harbor Center Land company entered into an agreement with the New Richmond Land Company making them the sales agents of the tract. As part of this deal the New Richmond Land Company bought one half of the stock of the Harbor Center Land company.

In September 1915 Miss Wilbur borrowed $40,000 from D. H. Griffin. In November of the same year an additional $20,000 was borrowed for which Miss Griffin gave a note of $60,000 which was secured by her half interest in the tract.

In September 1918 Miss Wilbur brought an action to prevent Griffin from foreclosing on the pledge. The case was tried in the Superior court in San Francisco, carried to the Appellate and then to the Supreme court in each case being decided in Griffin's favor. The court after crediting several payments made, decreed that there was due some $50,000.

On Jan. 6, 1921 Miss Wilbur filed the suit which was later amended. This was followed by a suit by Griffin to foreclose on the promissory note. Three additional actions were then filed here, one each by Griffin, The Harbor Center Land Co. and the New Richmond Land Co. to quiet title to a certain portion of the tract. Griffin claimed 250 lots, New Richmond Land Co. 213 lots and the Harbor Center Land Co. approximately 350 lots.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED FOR HI-Y CLUB HERE

Even new members were initiated into the Girls' Hi-Y club of the Y. M. C. A. at last night's meeting and banquet with President Roberta Beard in charge of the work. The new members are: Georgina Pimm, Doris Adams, Beulah Phillips, Lois Deatsch, Delores Richard, Mary Swindell, Dorothy Legault, Helen Moore, Edna Phillips, Mary Mann, Naomi Mahnke.

Permanent committees to take charge of the program for the semester were selected as follows: Membership, Teru Moore, chairman; Opal Wilson, Mildred Wollett, social, Iris Bird; School publicity, Margaret Dahl, chairman; Reta Maschio, Muriel Moran; service, Margaret Edwards, chairman; Evelyn Cunan, Doris Pimm.

As next week will be devoted to a financial drive for the association, no meeting of the Hi-Y club will be held. The girls of the club will serve the dinners for the benefit of the drive all during the week. The topic for discussion at the meeting on Wednesday, September 30, will be "Confidence" it was decided last night.

Women of Mooseheart To Have Dinner Party

Following last night's meeting of the Women of Mooseheart Legion in Moose hall, Mrs. Emma Baptist invited the members of the organization to a dinner in the Felix Grill, Nineteenth and Macdonald avenue in the near future.

A talk on the order was given by Mrs. Zeb Knott. Several members whose birthdays come during this month, contributed to the birthday fund. Mrs. Valie Schooler, senior regent, who presided over the session, was awarded the weekly mystery package.

BIBLE STUDY AT LUTHERAN CHAPEL

Bible study occupied the meeting held by the Young People's Bible Class of the Lutheran Chapel last evening. The class will continue its study throughout the fall and winter seasons. Edward Walczak was in charge last night.
